Thanks.

I confirm that New College invests only in the BlackRock and the OUEM funds.

The exact amount in each varies, of course, with market volatility but very roughly it is c£90m in the former and c£80m in the latter.

Regards.

Dear [Redacted]

Thank you for your reply to my email.

Please could you give the percentage of your investment portfolio that is invested in the BlackRock "fossil fuels screened" global index, and the OUEM fund, and confirm that New College does not invest with any other funds? If the college does invest with other funds, please could you provide the names and percentages for them.

Yours sincerely,
Eloise

Sorry for the delay in responding.

We invest in the Oxford University Endowment Fund and in the BlackRock "fossil fuels screened" global index.

OUEM does not reveal the exact equity holdings in its funds; and we do not hold data on what is in the B/R global index.

Hence there is no data held by College of the kind you are seeking which I can supply to you under the Act.

Regards.
